Preface

Although the California State Board of Education no longer adopts supplementary instructional materials, it has established an "out-of-cycle" review process that has provided school districts with more options in terms of materials that are available for purchase with the Instructional Materials Fund (IMF). These materials and some nonadopted basic programs are presented in this list of Instructional Materials Approved for Legal Compliance. For the first time, a list of materials approved for purchase with Instructional Materials Funds includes computer software programs.

School districts may use 20 percent of their allocation from the IMF to purchase materials from this list. The petition process may be used to obtain nonadopted basic programs on this list with up to 100 percent of a school district's allocation. The petition process is described in the Instructional Materials Ordering Manual; the 1983 edition of the ordering manual already has been sent to school districts.

All materials on this list meet the state's legal compliance requirements. This means that the materials have been reviewed against social content criteria having to do with the depiction of males and females, various ethnic groups, the aged, the disabled, and other areas that ensure that they are responsive to certain social concerns.

School districts have advised the staff of the Office of Curriculum Framework and Textbook Development that it was cumbersome to use the four lists that have been prepared to date. The office has prepared this "list of lists" to facilitate the instructional materials selection process.

The list contains information about the publisher/titles, International Standard Book Number (ISBN), copyright date, grade level, and Legal Compliance Committee (LCC) termination date.

The Office of Curriculum Framework and Textbook Development is committed to working with school districts to improve the overall quality of textbooks and instructional materials and to facilitate the selection process. Please contact Francie Alexander, Director, Office of Curriculum Framework and Textbook Development, 721 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, CA 95814, if you have suggestions for how this might be accomplished.

Special note must be taken of the careful and diligent work performed by Marcie Beilby and Kathy Thrasher in preparing this list. Specific questions about the contents may be directed to Marcie at (916) 323-2603 and Kathy at (916) 323-2607.
